Practice

Corporate, Finance and Capital Markets

Randy concentrates his practice on corporate transactions, with a focus on mergers and acquisitions for privately held companies. His representations include private equity funds, independent sponsors, strategic purchasers, founder and successor shareholders of closely held businesses and management teams in connection with transactions in the middle-market space. He has experience negotiating and drafting deals that are backed by representation and warranty insurance as well as traditional indemnification packages.

Randy also has experience working with entrepreneurs and management teams in a corporate counsel context. He has drafted formation documentation for new ventures, including custom-tailored limited liability company agreements. Additionally, he has directly handled or facilitated the preparation of the gamut of typical corporate actions, including board and shareholder approvals, internal restructurings/reorganizations and recapitalizations, equity incentive plan implementation and employment documentation.

Randy's experience extends to negotiating, drafting and reviewing a range of commercial contracts, with particular experience regarding portfolio companies of existing private equity company clients.

Across all representations, Randy focuses on leading and working within well-integrated, highly-efficient core deal teams that also leverage the expertise of subject matter specialists throughout the Stevens & Lee platform. He approaches the practice of law with a pragmatic, results-oriented approach that prioritizes achieving his clients' objectives through traditional and creative solutions.
