Litigation

Dan specializes in complex business and commercial litigation and has tried more than 40 cases to verdict.

Dan is a Fellow in the American College of Trial lawyers, an invitation only organization composed of the best of the trial bar in the U.S. and Canada and is recognized as the preeminent organization of trial lawyers in North America. The College thoroughly investigates each nominee and selects only those who have demonstrated the very highest standards of trial advocacy, ethical conduct, integrity, professionalism and collegiality.

Most recently, he was on the trial team representing a manufacturer in one of the Department of Labor's top enforcement actions for alleged wage-hour violations at 24 factories. In May 2023, after a two-month trial, the jury returned a verdict that rejected the overwhelming majority of the government's claimed damages.

Dan was twice lead appellate counsel in False Claims Act appeals argued before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. He was trial counsel to a defendant in the federal class action litigation stemming from the Kids-For-Cash scandal involving the Luzerne County Juvenile System, where the trial judge commented that Dan "has extensive experience defending complex litigation and class actions."

In the fall of 2016, he was trial counsel in an ERISA case tried to verdict in federal court in the Southern District of New York, and he was trial counsel in a 2005 federal class action jury trial involving an FLSA claim for overtime resulting in a unanimous verdict for his client after a trial that lasted more than two weeks. In 2004, he was involved in the largest class action price fixing case at the time in the history of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Over the past 30 years, Dan has represented major corporations in their litigation, including International Paper Company, EnerSys, Independence Blue Cross, Capital Blue Cross, Erie Insurance Group, Carpenter

Technology Corporation, Santander Bank and Wells Fargo.

As a former federal prosecutor in Philadelphia, Dan headed a number of grand jury investigations and prosecuted complex and lengthy criminal cases. He was promoted to the Special Prosecutions Division of the U.S. Attorney's Office, where he specialized in complex criminal investigations and political corruption cases. He was an instructor for the U.S. Attorney General's Advocacy Institute in Washington, D.C. He was awarded a Special Commendation for Outstanding Service by the U.S. Department of Justice for his prosecution of an international drug smuggling ring.

Twice Dan was appointed to Magistrate Judge Merit Selection Panels for the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. He was selected to head an investigative panel on the qualifications of a Pennsylvania Superior Court judge candidate as part of the Pennsylvania Bar Association Judicial Evaluation Commission. He also was a gubernatorial appointee to the Governor's Judicial Advisory Commission for Berks County. He was appointed as a Hearing Committee Member for the Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
