Practice

Wealth Planning, Trusts and Estates

Tom is a member and former Chair of Stevens & Lee's Estates and Trusts Practice Group. He concentrates his practice in estate and tax planning, fiduciary administration, litigation of fiduciary matters, and consulting with banks and trust companies on matters of fiduciary administration. He serves as a mediator of disputes arising from the administration of trusts and estates and as an expert witness on fiduciary matters throughout Pennsylvania.

Tom is a member and former Vice Chair of the Pennsylvania Joint State Government Commission's Advisory Committee on Decedents' Estates Laws. Most recently he drafted a proposed Directed Trust Act that is before the Pennsylvania legislature for consideration. Previously he served as the reporter and chairman of the Advisory Committee's Subcommittee which drafted the Pennsylvania Uniform Trust Act, enacted into law in 2006 as the first complete codification of trust law in Pennsylvania and a model for other states.

Tom is a frequent speaker for the Pennsylvania Bar Institute and other organizations. He developed the Pennsylvania Bar Institute's programs on Estate Planning for Subsequent Marriages and the Uniform Trust Act.
