Practice

Litigation

Chris is an Associate in the firm's Litigation Department and focuses his practice on complex commercial litigation. He represents public and private companies in corporate governance, product liability, contract and general litigation matters. He assists clients in a variety of industries, including pharmaceutical companies, healthcare providers, real estate developers, insurance providers, banking and financial services, higher education and sports entertainment. In addition, Chris has particularly deep experience in managing electronic discovery from preservation through production, with a focus on driving efficiency and reducing client costs throughout the discovery lifecycle.

In his home communities, Chris is proud to serve on the Board of the Azzim Dukes Initiative, a Philadelphia-based 501(c)(3) that combats gun violence by investing in youth through free boxing, mentoring and meal programs.

While in law school, Chris served as a judicial intern for the Hon. Brian K. Marshall. He also worked as a Research and Teaching Assistant for Vice Admiral (Ret.) James W. Houck, 41st Judge Advocate General of the United States Navy.
